

Terms and Conditions of website use

Welcome to our site. If you continue browsing and using this site, you agree to comply with the terms and conditions of use, which dictate the relationship between use of the website by you.

The term 'we' refers to the owner of this Web site. The term 'you' refers to the user or browser of our website

The use of the website is subject to the following disclaimer:

The content on this site is for your general information. Changes can be made at any time without any notice. a

This site contains information belonging to Mr. Stathis Kotidis or whose license is the same. From time to time, the site may have links to other websites. These links are for your convenience. We are not responsible for the content of such web sites.

For any problems or comments, please contact the address skotidis@med.auth.gr